USCG
Tribal Engagement

Rob Edwardson
USCG D17 Tribal Liaison
Federal Indian Policy/Philosophy

- Treaty Making Era 1778-1871
- The Removal Era 1830-1850
- The Reservation Era 1850-1871
- Allotments – Assimilation 1887-1934

---------------------------------------------
- The Termination Era 1953-1968
- The Self-Determination Era 1968-Present
- Mandate for Federal G-2-G 2000-Present

Domestic Dependent Nations
“The Congress shall have the power... to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian Tribes.”
574 American Tribes

Continental US:
- 337 Tribes
- Mostly on Reservations

Alaska: 229 Tribes
- Inupiaq/Yup’ik/Cup’ik
- Unangax (Aleut)/Alutiiq
- Athabascan
- Northwest

Differences in Regions & Ethnic Origins
Executive Order 13175 (2000)

- 2000: Federal Recognition of Tribal Sovereignty & Govt-to-Govt Relationship
- Mandated Consultation on Matters that may Impact Tribal Rights, Resources, or Interests
- 2003: ANCSA Corps included for consultation (controversial issue)
- Potential Consequences of not engaging (operational & political)
Consultation With Tribes

- Formal Consultation:
  - Federally Recognized Tribes
  - ANCSA Corporations (limited)

- Engagement Only w/ Tribal-Related Stakeholders:
  - Alaska Native Organizations
  - Native Advocacy Groups (Local and National)
  - ANCSA Corporations
  - Majority Alaska Native Municipalities

Remember, Tribal Sovereignty Tribes aren’t “Stakeholders”
Lessons Learned:

- Don’t Duplicate projects
- Include ANO in Planning
- Close the loop after research ends
- Build Relationships Early
- Ask Questions to ID “Right” Members
- BEFORE is Better Than AFTER
- Relationships BEFORE Help DURING/AFTER
- Tribal Relations Can Impact Operational Success
- Engage Local Experts
- Ask Questions About Sacred/Historical Sites